Peoples Health Promotes Julie Hughes to Assistant Director of Regulatory Compliance

Metairie, La. – Peoples Health has announced the promotion of Julie Hughes to assistant director of regulatory compliance. Hughes' primary role is to ensure regulatory compliance with all healthcare laws applicable to the health plan products offered by Peoples Health, which covers a 14-parish service area including New Orleans and Baton Rouge. Hughes develops processes that monitor and audit regulatory requirements, communicates those requirements throughout the organization and identifies opportunities for staff training, development and education, as needed.

Hughes brings 14 years of experience in healthcare to the company. Prior to joining People's Health, she managed the compliance department for Geisinger Health Plan and worked as a compliance coordinator and regulatory specialist for Delaware's Department of Correction.

Hughes attained a Bachelor of Arts degree in sociology and anthropology from Tulane University and a Master of Science degree in healthcare administration from Saint Joseph's University before graduating with a Juris Doctor from Temple University in 2007. She is licensed to practice law in New Jersey and Pennsylvania.
