Peoples Health Appoints James Remetich to Executive Director of the New Orleans Region

METAIRIE, Louisiana – Peoples Health is pleased to announce the appointment of James Remetich to executive director of the New Orleans region. Remetich is responsible for increasing the efficiency of Peoples Health regional programs in order to optimize health outcomes for plan members and strengthen relationships with network providers. He also plays a lead role in developing long-term strategies that support the company's mission.

Remetich brings more than 30 years of experience in healthcare operations and managed care to his position. Prior to joining Peoples Health, Remetich served as market network and business development director for JenCare Neighborhood Medical Centers, where he developed innovative programs to improve quality of care and grow the organization's patient membership and provider network.

Remetich earned a Bachelor of Science in business administration from University of Holy Cross and a Master of Business Administration from Loyola University New Orleans. He is an active member of the Medical Group Management Association and the American College of Healthcare Executives.
