Our credentialing department checks information about a hospital before the hospital joins our provider network. We collect the following information when a hospital applies to join our network, and then we confirm it. At least every three years, we re-check the information to make sure it is still accurate. We also update information within 30 days if a hospital tells us of a change. We make this information available so you have access to details about the hospitals in our provider network.

HOSPITAL QUALITY DATA AND HOSPITAL ACCREDITATION STATUS
Most of the hospitals in our network are accredited by The Joint Commission. Accreditation is the formal review process for verifying that an organization meets a certain set of standards that represent industry best practices. The Joint Commission has accredited hospitals for more than 60 years, and approximately 90 percent of the nation's accredited hospitals are accredited by it. Click the Accreditation Information link within the hospital's details to view the hospital's quality record and accreditation status.
